2. National museum narratives

Museum studies, Leicester University, 18-20 June 2007

The definition of national museum is done in policy and in practice. What kind of narrative and performance are allowed and fostered at different national museums? Hence an institution is created as part of national policy and historical culture. A focus on narrative aspects of museum performance needs to be carefully considered not to be stranded on neither abstract functions of inclusions and exclusions or detailed iteration of exhibitions.
